Quality Airshow Sound Quality Airshow Sound is a Division of Quality DeeJays established in 1984 and located in Culpeper, Virginia, owned and operated by Bill Troiano a private pilot. After spending more than 30 years in the deejay business in 2001 Bill was asked by his local airport to provide sound for the first ever Air Fest at the Culpeper Regional Airport. Since then Quality Airshow Sound has been an intricate part in what has become the largest airshow in the area. Bill also volunteers his services at the Flying Circus in Bealeton, Virginia, one of the longest "barnstorming" shows in the USA. Bill's love for flying combined with his experience as a deejay and knowledge of modern sound technology and equipment helped him design a system that is suitable to operate in the loud airplane environment combined with appropriate contemporary music. The all-weather sound system is powered by quiet portable generators, including top of the line wireless crystal clear sound system and is ready for the announcer to interact with the crowd.
